Dear PrimeTime:

I would like to know if the PrimeTime Guide comes with First Choice★Superchannel when you subscribe from your local cable company or do you have to subscribe to it. It would be a pleasure to hear about this.

I thank you for your time and look forward to hearing from you.

PrimeTime magazine is indeed part of the package you purchase when you subscribe to First Choice★Superchannel. If you are a First Choice★Superchannel subscriber and not receiving your copy of PrimeTime magazine, please call the PrimeTime offices in Edmonton.

Individuals who wish to receive PrimeTime magazine, and are not currently First Choice★Superchannel subscribers, can do so by sending the PrimeTime office the yearly subscription price of $12.00. As well as complete coverage of First Choice★Superchannel, PrimeTime magazine is currently carrying the schedules of Arts and Entertainment Network, MuchMusic, Cable News Network and The Nashville Network and is planning to offer information on the other discretionary services in Canada in the future.

Ed.

Dear PrimeTime:

I am a superchanoholic! I feel my money is well spent. We also have TSN and Arts and Entertainment Network. My idea for improvement has to do with the PrimeTime guide. With each description of the movies, I would like to see the year it was made and the country that made the film and possibly the location it was filmed in. Finally in reference to the "Monthly Planner" in the middle page, the print is so small I am forced to use my magnifying glass as well as my glasses for reading. Couldn't you eliminate the pictures and space it so that there is not a day exactly in the center? This makes it even more difficult to read.

I sincerely hope my suggestions can be taken into consideration. I wish you continued success.

M. Lipp
Langley, B.C.

I am sure you have noticed that this issue now includes the date of release for nearly every movie covered. I shall try to add the information on country and production location in the near future. The monthly planner we carry in the center of the magazine was arrived at after much experimentation, to ensure we were indeed offering the best of all possible solutions. The calendar format we now have is very popular with most of our subscribers, as witness the furor caused whenever we dare tamper with it. The type size has been dictated by the amount of programming offered and I'm sure you would not want First Choice★Superchannel to reduce the number of movies they show. I know many of our subscribers remove the center grid and pin it up on the wall; that might eliminate the problems caused by having staples through some of the days.

Ed.

Dear PrimeTime:

I cannot see why the PrimeTime magazine isn't mailed. I have so far had to pick up my copy three times from the cable company office, and so far this month haven't even bothered to do that.

B. Smalley
Fort St. John, B.C.

When a subscriber first signs up with First Choice★Superchannel, an issue of PrimeTime magazine should be hand delivered or picked up from the cable company's office. After that, the subscriber's name is entered onto a mailing list by the cable company, sent to the PrimeTime office and the subscriber receives all future copies of PrimeTime through the mail. If you have not received your copy of PrimeTime there are three possible areas of breakdown: the mailing list, the mailing house and the post office. We would like all our subscribers to telephone the Edmonton PrimeTime office if they are having a problem in this area. That is the only way we can monitor the situation and ensure it is rectified.

Ed.

Dear PrimeTime:

Please allow me to compliment you on the fact that you have finally established for four consecutive months a comprehensive and understandable format. I, for one, sincerely hope that you do not become overcome with the idea that change is progress, and in its wake "revise" PrimeTime again.

S. Shimonko
Kelowna, B.C.

Every magazine is an organism with vitality and life of its own and consequently grows and changes as needs dictate. I assure you, we will never grow away from the elements which make PrimeTime "comprehensive and understandable". I hope you will write to us again if you believe we are abandoning our mandate, which is, to provide subscribers with the best possible pay television listings magazine.

Ed.

If you're old enough to get your period, you're old enough to forget your period.

Because you're old enough to use a tampon. And coping with your period is a lot easier when you don't have the restrictions and embarrassment of pads to cope with, too. A tampon lets you wear what you want...do what you want...whenever you want to. So you'll hardly notice your period. And neither will anyone else.

To make it easier for you, TAMPAX has designed a special tampon, just for beginners. A TAMPAX™ 'Slender' tampon protects like a regular tampon, yet it's about the size of your little finger. So it's simple to use... even the first time. And you get effective protection from a tampon so comfortable you won't feel it at all.

And TAMPAX also offers 'Regular', 'Super' and 'Super Plus' absorbencies, to accommodate your differing levels of flow.

Eventually, you may wish to try several absorbencies, to be sure you're getting the protection that's just right for you.

If you're old enough to get your period, you're old enough to use TAMPAX tampons.

And you'll see why women choose TAMPAX tampons more than any other brand of feminine protection.

PREMIERING

ON FIRST CHOICE ★ SUPERCHANNEL IN APRIL

Romancing The Stone

Rollicking high-adventure escapism provides the danger, romance and humour in Romancing The Stone. The talents of Kathleen Turner and Michael Douglas provide the sparkle to bring this all to life. Turner, best known for her steamy role in Body Heat, bottles up all her sensuality to play Joan Wilder, a drab writer who lives vicariously through her romantic fiction. Plunged into intrigue when her recently widowed sister is kidnapped in Columbia, Joan flies

UP THE CREEK

An uncomplicatedly funny film in the tradition of Animal House and Porky's (the comparisons are inevitable with cast members from both movies), Up The Creek was 1984's homage to the lovable-but-lazy good guys take on elitist preppy bad guys genre. When the dean of Lepetomane University (John Hillerman) decides his school must finally win a trophy in the intercollegiate whitewater raft races, he recruits four reluctant students (Tim Matheson, Stephen Furst, Dan Monahan, and Sandy Helberg) by promising them degrees in the subject of their choice. Their main rivals are an obnoxious Ivy League team and an obsessive military academy group.

Nudity, language.

to the rescue with the demanded ransom, a mysterious map sent to her by her late brother-in-law. Lost in the jungle and cornered by a menacing stranger, Joan is saved by a calculating American soldier-of-fortune, Jack Colton (Michael Douglas). Joan promptly falls in love, seeing in Jack the physical incarnation of her romantic ideal. However Jack seems more interested in the treasure at the end of the map, a giant, priceless emerald. After a ride over a waterfall, wrestling with alligators, and being chased by an army, can a happy ending be far behind? As People magazine noted, "Turner is terrific, Douglas is fine and the action is slam-bang. Add lots of laughs and it all works out just right. Language, violence. (PG, 1984, 108m)

WORLD TELEVISION PREMIERES

AGAINST ALL ODDS

Based on the 1947 film noir classic, Out of the Past (also showing this month on First Choice★ Superchannel), Rachel Ward is the sultry woman who lures both Jeff Bridges and James Woods to destruction. Bridges is a former football star who has been cut from his team, a team, interestingly enough, which is owned by Ward's mother (played by Jane Greer who had Ward's role in the 1947 film). Hired by an L.A. club owner/hood (James Woods) to trace the woman who stole $50,000, Bridges heads off to Mexico to find and fall for Ward. The complex plot takes several twists, turning love into obsession and obsession into murder. As Variety noted, "All the performances are first rate; the best scenes taking place between Bridges and Woods, each projecting that special hatred men can have when in love with the same woman. And there's simply something about Ward that makes that completely believable." Nudity, violence, language. (A, 1984, 124m)

MOSCOW ON THE HUDSON

The brilliant comedic talents of Robin Williams provide a sensitive, humorous portrait of a Russian circus musician who defects during a trip to New York City — in the capitalist high temple, Bloomingdale's Department Store. Vladimir Ivanoff is just an ordinary Soviet citizen, living in a one bedroom apartment with his parents, sister and grandfather, standing in line to buy shoes and toilet tissue, borrowing a friend's apartment to have a moment alone with his girlfriend. Yet a split-second decision changes his life. Vladimir quickly discovers the joys and sorrows of living in America, assisted by his new friends — a black department store security guard, an Italian salesgirl and a Cuban immigration lawyer. Critic Leonard Maltin found Moscow On The Hudson, "full of endearing performances, perceptive and bittersweet moments... Williams is superb in the lead". Mature situations, language.

HARD TO HOLD

Soap opera/recording star Rick Springfield, in his movie debut, plays Jamie Roberts, a hot rock star who is looking for something more than just fame. When he collides with strong-willed child psychologist, Diane Lawson (Janet Eilber), they fall in love despite their very different natures. She's a quiet intellectual who enjoys Tony Bennett; he's a flashy adventurer. His celebrity, with a helping hand from co-songwriter and ex-girlfriend Nicky (played by model Patti Hansen, best known as wife of Rolling Stone Keith Richards), comes between them. Springfield's boyish good looks and rock 'n' roll popularity, augmented by a sound track with seven of his songs, should continue to hold in thrall his teen audiences. Language, nudity.

World Television Premiere MIKE'S MURDER

This intriguing film of the realities of drug-dealing stars Debra Winger as a middle-class bank teller who decides to investigate her lover's death. Mark Keyloun (Sudden Impact) is Mike, a tennis instructor who does small-time dealing in cocaine. Convinced by a friend (Darrell Larson of Brainstorm) to make one last big transaction, Mike stupidly steals some of the cocaine and is promptly murdered. As Betty Parrish (Winger) delves into the realities of Mike's world, she is both attracted and repelled by the seedy lawlessness lurking under the seductively attractive Los Angeles lifestyle. Director James Bridges (Urban Cowboy) held this film up in post production for 2 years after initial negative reaction; what he released is a film about contemporary violence which does not reveal any overt violence. Said Variety, "The film is full of very accurate slices of life and on-the-button behavioral details... as usual, Winger is wonderful to watch". Violence, language.

Making the Grade

Palmer Woodrow III is what every preppie aspires to be — fantastically wealthy and totally obnoxious. Eddie Keaton is the original street-wise hustler, pursued by his bookie for a bad debt. When Palmer decides to skip his last year of prep school to travel abroad, he hires Keaton to make the grades that will secure Palmer the family trust fund. The swap inevitably leads to ludicrous situations — Keaton arrives at the Hoover Academy in a yellow cab dressed in a fluorescent red polyester suit. Yet his street smarts help him to become the campus bookie and porno procurer. Then Keaton falls heavily for the beautiful, blonde, blue-eyed Hoover fortune heir, Tracey. Suddenly, he takes his new identity seriously, embracing the style he has been mocking. The fast-paced laughs will remind viewers of the best of youth comedies, such as Risky Business and Diner. Still regarded as one of the greatest upsets in sporting history, in the 1964 Tokyo Olympics, a little known American Indian won the gold medal in the 10,000 metre competition. In this exciting recreation of that event, Robby Benson (Harry and Son) stars as the formidable Billy Mills, a man who overcomes his problems through sheer force of will. First achieving recognition at the University of Kansas, Mills married and joined the Marines where he set himself an arduous training program. Marshalling all his self-discipline, Mills goaded himself on by imagining his major rival (world record holder Ron Clarke of Australia) at his side. By beating him repeatedly in his mind, Mills went to Tokyo prepared only to win. And win he did, as revealed in a moving and emotional climax. The story touches on the difficulties of an Indian in assimilating to a culture outside his reservation, but it is really a testimony to the human spirit. Brief nudity.

Caught up in his work, it takes a serious acci-

REPO MAN

Already established as a cult favorite, Repo Man is an engaging mixture of sci-fi, social satire and comedy. Emilio Estevez (Martin Sheen's son, seen previously in The Outsiders) is an L.A. punk rocker who takes a job repossessing cars for non-payment. Harry Dean Stanton is the foul-mouthed, alcoholic employer who teaches Estevez the code of repo men. For his leading-lady, he has plucked from her school an untried young dancer — named Carmen. As rehearsals progress, the director becomes so obsessed with his young star he can no longer differentiate between the off-stage Carmen and the passionate temptress of the on-stage Carmen. The tragic tale is set against a backdrop of fiery flamenco music and the poignant operatic score. Critic Judith Crist of the Saturday Review called Carmen "splendid... superb... a film that offers delight and satisfaction on every level." This film will be shown in
